

With regards to direct or indirect references to external Internet sites ("links") which are themselves outside the field of responsibility of Schrack Technik GmbH, liability for illegal content will only then be assumed if Schrack Technik GmbH has knowledge of the content of those sites and it is technically feasible and reasonable for Schrack Technik GmbH to prevent usage of said sites. Schrack Technik GmbH expressly declares that at the time the links were placed on its own site, the linked sites were free of illegal content. Schrack Technik GmbH also expressly declares that it has no influence on the current and future content of sites to which the references/links refer. For this reason, Schrack Technik GmbH expressly distances itself from all contents of the linked/referenced pages that have been changed since the links were installed on this site. This declaration applies to all links and references placed within its own Internet site, as well as entries made by third parties in guestbooks, forums and mailing lists created by Schrack Technik GmbH. Sole liability for illegal, erroneous or incomplete content, and particularly for damages which might be caused by use or non-use of any such information supplied, is born by the provider of the target site, and not by the provider who included a link to that particular site.
