/// TOP SOLUTION

In just a few years, cabling systems will have become just as commonplace in the home as central heating, water or electricity, and be taken for granted just as much as the IT network in the office. With Schrack @ Home, each connection in each number immediately meets the required service – TV, SAT TV, IT, telephone.

And the demands keep increasing. People's living situations are changing. One's home environment must be flexible. These developments have brought demands for new installation solutions from electro-technology in order to make the home environment interactive.

With our Schrack @ Home range, SCHRACK is your competent partner for professional energy and data technology solutions.
